We meet the needs of the black and white market place with our Docutechs and DigiPath workflow system. Printing solutions for your black and white copy needs: Xerox Nuvera™

The latest version of Xerox's Docutech line of black and white digital printers has given us an improved image resolution, which allows us to produce exceptional image quality.

With the increasing market for on demand printing and digital printing, it is important to have control over the workflow. Our DigiPath workflow system acts as the hub for all our digital printing area, directing files to our DocuColours, and Docutechs.

This equipment is an excellent complement to both our Docutechs and our DocuColours. The DigiPath system is a combination of workflow management, file editing, page imposition, and document scanning, which gives us a great deal of versatility in building and producing the following documents:

- Manuals • Books • Newsletters • Catalogues • Labels • Price Lists • Lesson Notes • Training Manuals

Today the majority of our colour machines are digital printing presses integrated into our current workflow to enable applications such as 1:1 marketing and print on demand. Generating a wide variety of projects from simple business cards to full colour technical manuals, brochures and sales presentations all produced from your computer generated files. We can also accommodate your needs for the more traditional colour copy/copies as well.

A variety of colour printing solutions are available to you:

- DocuColour 8000 and 2060 full colour digital press. Both machines require computer generated files.
- DocuColour 12 a traditional colour copier, printing from letter to tabloid size pages

Just a few of the products that we can produce are:

- Brochures • Tickets • Posters • Business Cards • Reply Cards • Calendars • Annual Reports
- Shelf Talkers • Direct Mail • Presentation Folders

A corporation's image is their first line of marketing. Interestingly enough, most businesses don't realize the importance of maintaining their corporate image with all of their printed material.

Stirling Print Solutions understands that every letter you write, every invoice you send, and every business card you hand to a new client is an opportunity to build confidence and trust with your clients. Our award winning design team can work with you to develop the perfect look and feel, that balances usability with powerful design. Combine with this the right choice of materials, inks and great printing, and you have the perfect vehicle for leaving a great impression every time.

It all starts with our award winning graphic design team and state of the art production studio, using their skills and talents, as designers to assist our clients in bringing their projects to life. The creative team has a vast resource of knowledge, information and tips to assist you in the creation and reproduction of your files.

Aesthetically pleasing printed material is the cornerstone to great marketing and communications

The simple marketing concept for small business today is to be different, STAND OUT and you will be noticed.

In the list of Businesses which one of them is not like the others? Exactly...none. How can a consumer with little time and multiple choices choose from a similar list? The answer is they often don't.

A business has a great opportunity to differentiate itself among the crowd.

Many businesses can't afford a marketing department, so how do they develop an appropriate marketing package? Some may enlist a consultant while others hire an advertising agency.

Stirling Print Solutions brings you a combination of people who have made a successful career out of marketing small businesses. Advertising and design professionals add to our over forty years of success in the printing and communications industry. Who is better to assist you with your marketing needs?

The answer is clear, Stirling Print Solutions.

Offset printing is where we have evolved as a company, and today, a large part of our business still remains offset printing. Yet offset printing has been influenced by digital technology as well, most of our industry is now utilizing direct to plate technology to produce print.

Our offset department produces everything from tickets and stationery to multipage, full colour brochures, posters, presentation folders and so much more.
